Army Family Team Building (AFTB) provides soldiers, civilians and family members the tools to function well in any given situation with minimal outside support. This training will improve and enhance personal and family preparedness, which enhances overall Army readiness. Classes are offered in three levels: Level I - basic training / introduction to the Army life; Level II - basic management skills; Level III - advanced leadership and counseling skills. Levels I and II are available online: www.Armyfamilyteambuilding.org to take at your convenience. Your certificate will be mailed upon completion. Call Mellany Harris at 768-7232.

Army Family Action Plan (AFAP)

Held at the Camp Walker Chapel, this program allows soldiers, civilians and family members in the army community to provide input regarding their most significant issues and/or concerns affecting their well being.

AFAP Success Stories

- Service members' Group Life Insurance increased from $50,000 to $200,000
  - DOD Reserve Component family member ID card was established
- Vehicle can be stored at govt. expense when soldier is assigned to an area where shipment isn't authorized
  - Family Readiness Groups were institutionalized
- Programs like Army Family Team Building (AFTB) and Better Opportunities for Single Soldiers (BOSS) were born

Personal Financial Management Training

COMMISSARY

Mr. Rollin Bright 764-5310 / cwhbcs02@fe.deca.mil

Spotlight on quality of life . . .

May is "Commissary Awareness Month"

Submitted By: Rollin F. Bright, Store Director, Area IV Commissaries

You're ready to serve your country. "Your Area IV Commissaries in Korea are ready to serve you. That's our most important mission," says Defense Commissary Agency Director Maj. Gen. Robert J. Courter Jr. Commissaries are an essential part of the worldwide military community, and that's just one of the messages we want to deliver to our service members during Commissary Awareness Month in May." Actually, every month is commissary awareness month at DeCA. Your Area IV Commissaries, are constantly looking for ways to make your shopping experience, a more pleasant one. We know why we are here. We are here to provide the best commissaries, for the most wonderful people ever ----The American Military Forces! Commissaries are a military benefit offering grocery savings of more than 30 percent," says Courter. "Our store directors have been working hard to deliver the good news to the entire military community, from single service members to families, from retirees to Guard and Reserve members." Savings for a family of four shopping regularly in the commissary can amount to over $2,400 per year. We also want to communicate the message that we're a part of readiness - a core element of military family support," says Courter. "We enable military families to be assigned worldwide with active duty members, and we impact quality of life, retention, and a sense of community. Consistent delivery of U.S. grocery products and great prices worldwide are what we are all about." We are bringing our service members "A Little Taste Of Home," while stationed here in Korea. Commissaries continue to be a focal point of the military community in 2002, just as they have been for over 135 years, and the biannual Commissary Customer Satisfaction Survey rates customer satisfaction higher than ever. DeCA, formed in 1991 from the separate commissary systems, is celebrating its 10th year of existence as an agency, but it's still changing, evolving, and striving for improvements. Yes, we have a long tradition behind us, but we haven't stopped seeking a higher standard," says Courter. "Our stores now offer the freshest produce at great prices, unbeatable deals on fresh meats and we've developed the Best Value Item and Manager's Specials programs to offer even lower prices. We've also streamlined our operations to control costs, while increasing savings and improving customer service."

Commissaries have been listening and responding to customer feedback through focus groups and the "Your Action Line" program. As a result, conveniences such as short-term parking, more express lanes, Grab 'n' Go and quick meal sections, express lunches and more have been added to stores. Many commissaries will "strut their stuff" by planning outreach activities and tours during Commissary Awareness Month. And "Serving Up Savings," a brand new outreach video about commissary shopping, will make its debut along with "Click 'n' Save," a video that helps increase awareness of the commissary Web site and how authorized shoppers can use it to save money. DeCA will also be announcing recipients in the 2002 "Scholarships for Military Children" program in May. "The scholarship program is just one more way we have become more essential in the lives of military families," says Courter. "Nearly 400 scholarships were awarded in 2001 and that number will grow this year." Find out more about Commissary Awareness Month by checking out DeCA's Web site: www.commissaries.com in May for online shopping sprees, what's on sale, and other Commissary Awareness Month news. Find out what's happening at your local commissary through the "locations" link.
